Hooray! I was going to throw the strawberries in the two big pots away. Just dig them up and transplant them to your yard

Hooray! I got it! It's a good thing I heard today, because I killed Anastasia's strawberries this afternoon. It saved me to have some good news. Do you know how we can get starts from your plants?

Hey
David,
Thank you. I am very excited for this project. I would love to start tomorrow, but realistically I should say that I'm available to start this Thursday, 26 April.
We had discussed the beginning of fall semester - 4 September 2018 - as a time to review things and discuss the possibility of continuing work during school.
Thanks again, and see you soon, David Black

David,
I have asked HR to make you an internship offer for this summer. It may take them a couple of days to generate the paperwork.
We received 75 resumes and interviewed 15 candidates, so we had plenty of applicants to choose from, but I think you're a good fit for the research projects we have planned.

What are your availability dates?

Thank

you,

David
